“Hike Worcester Challenge”

Asnebumskit Hill Briarcliff Lane to Thoreau's Seat

Experience the variety of habitats and natural areas of Worcester! Complete 10 of the Challenge hikes to be eligible for a commemorative patch.

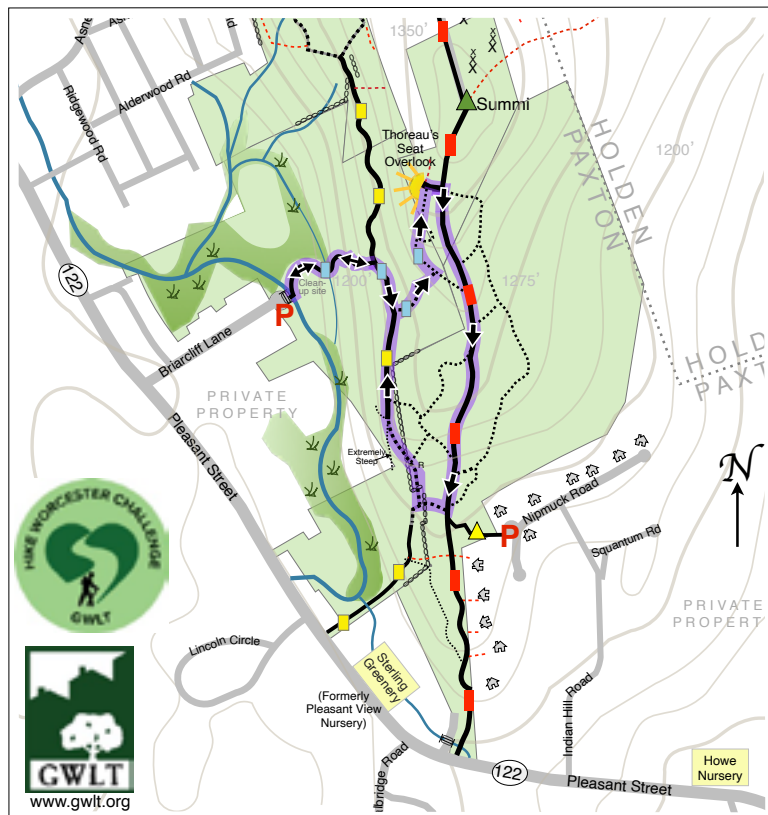

Challenge route: (highlighted in purple)

Park at the cul-de-sac at the end of Briarcliff Lane in Paxton. Walk around the gate and follow the dirt road across the clean-up area to the stream. Cross the stream and climb up this steep rocky path (blue rectangles). (Using a hiking pole is suggested.) When you meet the cart path, turn right and head South on the cart path for almost .100 mile. The blue rectangular path continues NE up the hill to Thoreau's Seat. To return, head East to this upper cart path which is blazed with red rectangles. Hike South down the hill for almost .400 mile. Just before you reach an 'outdoors room' turn right and head West, crossing stone walls and winding your way back to the lower cart path. Head North until you reach the short steep path back down to the starting point, about .350 mile. See map.

Total length: about 1.500 miles

The best place to park is the lot on Apricot Street in Worcester, located North of the Robert Goddard Memorial. If this lot is closed, park on Merchant Street or at the other end of the walk on Beatrice Drive. In both cases, it is a short walk to the start of the hike. This is a linear hike that goes from Parsons Cider Mill to Marois 28 and back. At the Marois 28 end you have two options, you can end/or turn around at the entrance on Goddard Memorial Drive (purple highlight) or you can follow the path along a wetland NW to the stone wall property boundary (red highlight). The wetland that separates the two properties has a narrow path that may be wet in damper weather. The Parsons Cider Mill section of the hike follows wide woods roads and passes two ponds. Which ever direction you take, return by retracing your steps.

Trinity Woods Spur is a trail that connects to the East Side Trail. Park on Trinity Avenue near the intersection of Bryn Mawr Avenue. The trail begins in the open area between 75 and 77 Trinity Avenue. Follow the trail down through the woods to Coal Mine Brook. Continue on the Trinity Spur until the intersection with the East Side Trail. Turn right, SW, onto the East Side Trail. Cross the stream and continue up the hill. Follow this path crossing two stone walls, emerging at a large field. Cross the field stopping at a wall to complete the outward part of this hike. Re-trace your route back to Trinity Ave. Near the top of the last hill, check out the bicycle wheel that is imbedded in the tree.

Total length: 1.500 miles
